The following guidelines apply to members of the Concordia University Texas social media community, including, but not limited to, students, faculty, staff, administrators and members of the greater community.

Use these guidelines as you participate on CTX social networks or online in your official capacity tied to the university.

PROTECT PERSONAL INFORMATION

For safety and security of all people involved in CTX’s social media community, please refrain from posting personal contact information (home and cell phone numbers, mailing or home addresses, personal email addresses, etc.) on social media sites.

Get familiar with the privacy settings of each social media channel you use. Our recommendation is to only share private information with people you know personally. Taking time to establish strict privacy settings can be very beneficial in the long run. However, even privacy settings cannot protect your posts at all times. Your post may still be shared via screenshot or copied and pasted, and shared beyond your original intent.

Faculty and staff should refrain from sharing any personal student information or academic work on social media, even with student approval.

BRANDING

Personal web pages and social media accounts (of faculty, staff or students) may not use Concordia University Texas logos or trademarks.

TRANSPARENCY

When referencing Concordia, make it clear that you’re not communicating on behalf of the university. Clearly identify yourself and fully disclose any affiliation you may have with CTX; this can be a simple reference in your bio or in an online statement. Ex: All opinions are my own.

INSPIRE DIALOGUE

We strive to create an online environment that is welcoming, mutually respectful and inclusive.

Please don’t use ethnic and racial slurs, hateful speech, personal attacks, abusive language, nudity or pornography.

OFFICIAL UNIVERSITY ACCOUNTS

CTX reserves the right to block or remove any content that violates Concordia’s guidelines, policies or code of conduct.

- All registered accounts will be considered official university accounts and listed on the university social media directory.

Student organizations are also encouraged to utilize the University’s official social media accounts to communicate campus events and activities. Please submit a social media request form on the social media web page. Social media administrators who violate these regulations will be removed from their administrative role.
